CHINA ANNOUNCES RELEASE OF 11 AIRMEN

Log-Jam Slows Adjournment Of Congress

Marathon Session Expected for Last Day of Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress got on the job early today, hopeful that this will be the last day of work for this session. But remaining log-jams failed to come unstuck as fast as expected.

As the House convened at 10 a. m.—two hours earlier than usual—for what promised to be a marathon session, Speaker Sam Rayburn said "we can" get through today. But he declined to predict flatly this would happen.

Besides the long list of bills still to be passed, and still on one "must" list or another, a number of continuing snarls posed a threat to prompt adjournment.

House and Senate conferees still were deadlocked on President Eisenhower's public housing program. Another set of conferees couldn't agree on the last appropriation bill of the session, covering expenses of Congress itself.

The House, after racing through routine endorsement of seven bills and conference reports on miscellaneous matters, ran smack into an unscheduled controversy over extra funds for its committee on small business.

Rayburn recognized Rep. Omar Burleson (D Tex.) under special procedure to call up a resolution to give the committee an extra $35,000 to continue its work. House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., Mass., served notice the resolution was going to be opposed.

Martin thereupon made a point of "no quorum," forcing a call of the House — a procedure that consumes 30 minutes or so.

The squabble seemed likely to raise the curtain on another squall over a related issue — keeping alive the Small Business Administration. That was to come up later in a bill doubling the agency's loan authority.

The snarl on legislative appropriations developed over proposed pay raises for congressional employes and new fringe benefits for the members themselves.

It appeared that the increases might be abandoned to clear the way for adjournment.

Democratic congressional leaders meantime discounted talk of a special session on highways. Martin mentioned this as a possibility Sunday. Key Democrats today shrugged this off as highly unlikely.

Poulos Auto Hits Two Porches After Collision

The porches of two residences on East Church street were damaged and an automobile was wrecked Sunday morning following a collision at Church and Mill streets.

Damaged were the homes of Mrs. Naomi Loos and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dorris.

Wrecked was the car belonging to Nick Poulos, which figured first in a collision with a pickup truck.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat said that Mrs. Poulos, accompanied by her husband, was driving west on Church street and figured in the collision with the pickup truck driven north on Mill street by James R. Mossberger, 16, of Grayville.

The Poulos car then jumped the curb, cut through the yard at the Alvin Porter home and on into the Loos porch, knocking off the northwest corner of the porch and tearing up shrubbery. It continued on to the Harry Dorris home, tearing up shrubbery there and knocking a hole in the east side of the porch before it stopped.

At the home of Mrs. Loos, bricks were knocked out and some of the porch boarding also was torn up. A hole was knocked in the brick foundation at the Dorris home.

Mrs. Poulos was treated for injuries at her home and reports this morning were that she was recuperating. Nick received first aid treatment for minor injuries.

Young Mossberger was not hurt and the truck he was driving was damaged but slightly. He was given a ticket which charged him with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Western Horse Show Tonight At County Fair

Fine Crowd Sees Carl Smith, Duke Of Paducah Program

The Western Horse show comes to the Saline county fair tonight following a rousing evening of entertainment by Carl Smith, the Duke of Paducah and their troupe at the fairgrounds last night.

The Western Horse show will start at 7:30 p. m. and a total of $1,110 in premiums will be offered to the contestants in the seven events.

The premiums will be $35 for first, $30 for second, $25 for third, $20 for fourth, $15 for fifth and $10 for sixth places in each class except in the cutting horse event, in which the premiums will be $75, $65, $55, $45, $35, and $25.

The events scheduled for tonight are: Pleasure horses; handy horse; pony 50 inches or under; flag race; walking horse; barrel race; and cutting horse.

Fine Crowd Last Night

Tonight's judge will be the well-known Charles Lynn of Mason City, Ill., and he will be assisted by Arnold (Dutch) Stafford of Harrisburg, the announcer, and John Hetterscheidt, also of Harrisburg, the ringmaster.

A fine crowd turned out last night to see the opening show and Carl Smith, the recording artist, was the big hit. He was cheered many times as he swung into certain numbers. Fair officials said it was one of the best-received programs in years.

The fair association announced that the number of passes given out to the fair had been greatly reduced this year and explained why. They said that nearly all the shows are here on a percentage basis, with the shows having their own checkers at the gates, and that passes had to be held down and given only to those persons making some contribution to the fair.

Entry Day Today

Today was entry day at the fair, with entries being made up to 5 p. m.

Livestock will be judged tomorrow, with tomorrow afternoon set aside as Kiddies' Day. Admission will be free with carnival rides for the children priced at only nine cents.

Mrs. Arthur McIlrath Dies

Mrs. Lillian Mae McIlrath, 73, who lived at 128 South Skaggs street, died at 10:55 a. m. today at the Harrisburg hospital.

She was the widow of the late Arthur McIlrath who passed away two years ago.

Surviving are four sons, James and Joe of Pontiac, Mich., William of Chicago and Robert of Pueblo, Colo. Three daughters also survive, Mrs. Jane Gasaway of Harrisburg, Mrs. Valeria Baker of Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Dell Deaton of Elgin, and a niece, Mrs. Elmer Miller of Geneva.

The body now lies in state in the chapel of the Gibbons funeral home.

Funeral plans are incomplete.

Screen Actor, Two Others Die In Plane Crash

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Screen actor Robert Francis, 25, and two companions died instantly Sunday night when their single - engine plane crashed and burned near Lockheed Air Terminal.

Francis, who achieved stardom in his role as Ensign Willie Keith in the film version of "The Caine Mutiny," was identified by Burbank police as the pilot of the four-seat Beechcraft Bonanza which crashed shortly after takeoff.

The other two victims were identified as actress Ann Russell, 24, and Hollywood agent Irving G. Meyer, 36.

Miss Russell, whose real name was Mrs. Audrey Anne Dorsch, was believed to have been divorced from Lt. Edward Dorsch, stationed at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo. She is the mother of three children.

Francis, a fledgling pilot, was flying a plane registered to actor Joe Kirkwood Jr., the "Joe Palooka" of the movies. Meyer, a golf course business partner of Kirkwood, shared ownership of the plane with the actor.

Airport personnel said the three apparently had been on a day's air outing from Santa Monica where Kirkwood's plane was checked out earlier by Meyer.

Witnesses said the plane's engine started to sputter at about 150 feet up and the craft crashed into a parking lot near the end of the runway and burst into flames. Francis apparently had been learning to fly with out the knowledge of his studio, it was reported.

B29 Crew Downed Near End Korea War to Reach Hong Kong On Thursday

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today announced the release of 11 U. S. airmen, held in Communist jails for 2 1-2 years, and said they should reach freedom in Hong Kong by next Thursday.

Announcement of the "immediate release" of the airmen, who had been convicted and imprisoned on espionage charges, was made by Peiping Radio, barely an hour before the opening of direct Chinese-American talks in Geneva in which their fate was the top item of the conference Agenda.

Chinese Ambassador to Poland Wang Ping-nan, who is Peiping's representative at Geneva, said the freed airmen should reach the British crown colony at Hong Kong by Aug. 4.

The 11 men were the crew of a U. S. B29 Superfort, shot down near the end of the Korean war. Red China's refusal to treat them as war prisoners and repatriate them with other Korean war prisoners had been the source of major tension between the United States and Red China.

Today's unexpected announcement by Peiping Radio said the Supreme People's Court of China on July 31 decided "to release these 11 criminals before the completion of their terms and notified the authorities in charge to carry out immediately the release procedures and to send them out of China."

The Peiping broadcast, monitored here and in London, was made barely an hour before the opening of direct talks between United States and Red China representatives at Geneva in which the case of the imprisoned airmen was scheduled to have been a major subject for discussion.

Red China's timing of the announcement was accepted by the west as a maneuver to achieve a propaganda victory in the Geneva talks, even before they began.

Early Release Assumed

The Peiping announcement did not say whether the airmen have as yet been released from jail or just when they will be returned to the free world. But it was presumed from the wording of the announcement that there will be little delay in complying with the order to "send them out of China."

Normally Americans and other Westerners who are released by the Chinese Reds are handed over at the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong which has a frontier with Red China.

The men to be released are: Maj. William H. Baumer, Lewisburg, Pa.; Airman 1.C. Steve R. Kiba, Akron, Ohio; Airman 2.C. John W. Thompson III, Orange, Va.; Capt. Eugene J. Vaadi, Clayton, N. Y.; Col. John K. Arnold Jr., Montgomery, Ala.; Lt. Wallace L. Brown, Montgomery, Ala.; Lt. John W. Buck, Armathwaite, Tenn.; Airman 2.C. Harry M. Benjamin Jr., Worthington, Minn.; Sgt. Howard W. Brown, St. Paul, Minn.; Capt. Elmer F. Llewellyn, Missoula, Mont.; Airman 2.C. Daniel C.

Saline Historical Society to Meet at Golconda Tuesday

An interesting meeting is planned for members and guests of the Saline County Historical society at Golconda on Tuesday, Aug. 2.

All those attending are asked to meet on the court house lawn, in Golconda, at 6 p. m. After looking at the Sara Lusk marker and the court house built in 1864 the group will make a tour (1) to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walker to see the desk used by Judge Wesley Sloan while in the Illinois Legislature (1848-1857) at which young Lincoln spent many hours studying law; (2) the Rauchfuss Library to see pictures, paintings, and doll collection; (3) the Presbyterian church organized in 1819—the oldest in the state; (4) the Judge Wesley Sloan home on bluff-view of river; (5) the Cherokee campground; (6) and a visit to the home and garden of Miss Madge Trovillion.

A potluck supper will be spread on tables at Dam 51 at the conclusion of the tour. In case of rain it will be held at Methodist church basement.

Judge R. Gerald Trampe, Miss Fannie Baker, Miss Madge Trovillion, Mrs. Josephine McClusky, Mrs. Nona Davis, Mrs. J. H. Walker, and Col. Durfee have agreed to help with the discussion following the meal. The discussion will include the early settlement of Golconda, the churches, social life, early families, Cherokee Trek, and other subjects that may enter the discussion.

Rodney Brenner, editor of the Golconda Herald - Enterprise, and Mrs. Leland Hamilton are helping to plan the meeting which gives assurance of being one of the most interesting of the season.

A cordial invitation is extended to friends to enjoy this meeting with the society.

Suffers Stab Wounds

Marion Rouse of Carrier Mills was treated for stab wounds here and released Sunday following an incident at Carrier Mills early Saturday evening. Held in the county jail in connection with the stabbing is Earl Riley of Ledford. Rouse suffered an eight or ten inch slash across the chest and a cut on the arm.

Coal Industry Watches Lewis For Notice of Wage Demands

WASHINGTON (UP)—Coal industry officials watched John L. Lewis uneasily today for notice of new wage contract demands for his United Mine Workers.

Lewis has not gone after any new demands since 1952, when he won a $1.90 a day increase that brought his soft coal miners' wages to $18.25 a day.

He is free to serve new contract demands along with a 60-day strike notice at any time, and has been since Aug. 1, 1953.

But coal industry officials think that today would be a "logical" time. A 60-day strike notice served today would run out on the third anniversary of the signing of the 1952 contract and a strike in the autumn "coal rush" season would be tough on the industry.

Lewis, however, could try his 1951 strategy. This was to negotiate secretly an agreement with Harry Moses, head of the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, largest of the bargaining groups, without serving any notice.

Coal industry and union officials claim Lewis has given no indications yet that he intends to go after new wage contract demands this year.

But representatives of the soft coal industry and of steel producers who own their own coal mines say they fear the pickup in coal production this year may draw Lewis out of his three-year silence on wage contract matters.

They speculate that he may demand either a wage hike equivalent to the steel and auto industry wage contract settlements — 15 to 20 cents an hour — or a shorter work day for his miners. There is also some thought that he might ask an increase in the royalty of 40 cents per ton that finances the UMW soft coal welfare and pension fund.

Reduce Eight-Hour Workday

Some observers are inclined to bet on a demand to reduce the soft coal miners' eight-hour workday without any reduction in daily pay. Miners' wages still rank with steel and auto wages. The shorter work day would help spread out available work in the industry. Unemployment is still high and union officials estimate the average soft coal miner works only 3½ days a week.

Lewis has kept his long silence on wage contract matters presumably because of the depression in the coal industry.

In the anthracite coal industry, union officials say, unemployment is still running about 65 per cent.

But soft coal production has started up again in the wake of the big boost in steel production this year plus expansion in the power industry, both of which use coal.

Cave-in-Rock Boy, 15, Drowns In Ohio River

A 15-year-old youth drowned Saturday early in the afternoon while wading in the Ohio river about one mile north of Cave-in-Rock. He was Charles Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Scott of Cave-in-Rock.

The boy with four other youths went up the river to an island Saturday afternoon and were wading near a sand bar on the Kentucky side of the Illinois chute when Scott walked off a reef into a hole. An effort was made by one of his friends, nearby, to pull him back but the boy slipped under the water, according to the Hardin county sheriff, William Ferrell.

A search began shortly with about 15 boats in the area taking part. The body was recovered around 9 p. m.

Besides his parents he leaves a sister, Paulette; two brothers, George and Mike, and a half brother, Ollie.

Funeral services were held today at 2 p. m. at the Cave-in-Rock Baptist church. Rev. Clyde Dempsey officiated and burial was in Dunn Springs cemetery.

The Rose funeral home in Cave-in-Rock was in charge.

Sheriff Raids Club at Harco

Sheriff William T. Barrett today revealed that he and his deputies conducted a raid last night on the Sportsmen's club at Harco.

And named today in a complaint filed by State's Attorney K. C. Ronalds was W. W. Raley, charged with illegal sale of liquor.

Barrett said the raid was conducted last night by himself and Deputies James S. Lyon, Everett N. Sneed and Jeff Stricklin. Confiscated were beer, whisky, glasses, dice cup and dice and playing cards.

Raley was not in the place at the time, the sheriff said, but stated that four fellows were there drinking beer when the raid was made. They made statements today which said that when they joined the club they didn't know the officers of the organization and that the express purpose of their joining was to drink beer. One of the men said that Raley had left him in charge.

The Sportsmen's club is in the old Legion building at Harco, Barrett stated.

Thoughts in A Rowboat

Editorial By Bruce Biossat

It's a long time between fish.

All a guy can do is sit there and think. The opportunity is so rare that the thoughts should be profound.

But probably they get around to something like computing the chances of catching anything worth while.

First, there's the gamble of even getting away from the family and wetting a line. That happens about 12 times a year so you start with odds of 12 to 365 against you.

Then proceed to the chance of getting the right lake where the big buster waits for you. Let's see, how many lakes in the United States? They call Minnesota the "land of the 10,000 lakes" just for one single state. Must be 100,000 to 1 odds there, anyway.

There's little chance of not getting a boat or breaking an oar when you get to the lake. If you use an outboard, they're almost infallible these days. You're way ahead here.

* * *

But finding the right hole is another thing. Twenty feet can make a whopping difference. Fellow fishermen are free with advice but they always keep the best spots as secret as the amount of their pay check.

Are the fish there that particular day? The weather can have them loafing out deep or picking their teeth under a lily somewhere else.

Are you going to drop your tackle box and scare every fish within a mile?

Then, for a fish to bite he's got to be hungry. When you see a big torpedo idly finning his way past your boat you think they never eat.

Next there's the case of just the right bait. That goes right down to the precise minnow or worm, for frequently a fisherman can see his adversary come dashing up to the hook then back away like a pedestrian from a panhandler.

* * *

Will he miss when he strikes? Will the anxious fisherman jerk the hook away from him when he tries to hook him? Will he toss the hook and become the big one that got away?

What are the odds on getting him from the water beside the boat over the gunwale? Will it be a keeper? How many out of 1000 fish jump out after being once in the boat and unhooked? How many stringers or burlap bags are lost off the sides of boats on the way home?

Call the insurance company statistical departments. All these odds must be stupendous. One little night crawler in all that water? Poof.

Consider the fisherman to discover the amazing nature of the human being and to understand why, of all the species including fish, he has become the lord of globe.

He keeps in there, persistently ignoring the odds, dangling his sad little pink worms, flicking his silly feathers through the water, dunking his implausable costume jewelry lures instead of just going home and lying in a darkened room with a cold wet cloth on his forehead.

What was that? A BITE!

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Talbott's Appointment Resulted From Heavy Campaign Contributions; He Had Bad Record With Liberty Airplane Motors In World War I; His Old Partner Gave Him Confidential Army Information In First War.

WASHINGTON. — The real story of Harold Talbott goes deeper than his own difficulties with a Senate committee over using his official position to get business for his company. It goes deeper down to the roots of the American political system whereby a few wealthy men are called upon to raise money for the mounting cost of electing a president.

Talbott was one of Ike's big money-raisers. He was also one of Tom Dewey's. He raised so much money for Dewey that he was all set to become U. S. ambassador to the Court of St. James. The Talbott daughters had even picked their gowns to appear in court—when the news came on that gray November dawn in 1948 that Dewey wasn't president after all.

Talbott happens to be a likable, dynamic, rough-and-tumble spark-plug who has made a crusade of building up the Air Force and especially the Air Force academy at Colorado Springs.

But he also happens to belong to a little group who helped found the General Motors empire and who made a fortune out of airplanes that never flew in World War I.

He was not a man Ike should ever have appointed to a defense cabinet position. But because the Roosevelt administration had fired him from the War Production Board Aircraft division in World War II, Talbott wanted to stage a comeback. So, with the party owing him a big debt as GOP money-raiser, Talbott was made secretary of the Air Force.

There was some argument among Eisenhower advisers as to the advisability of his appointment, as I reported in a column Dec. 15, 1952.

PEARSON WARNED OF TALBOTT'S RECORD

It happens that I followed the Talbott appointment rather closely and called the attention of certain highly placed individuals to the report on him prepared by Charles Evans Hughes at the request of President Woodrow Wilson. Among those I talked with were Senator Russell of Georgia, ranking minority member of the Armed Services committee, and Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, also a member of that committee. Both studied the Hughes report and asked Talbott penetrating questions that should have put the Eisenhower administration further on notice.

Hughes at that time had been governor of New York and a Supreme Court justice, having resigned to run against Wilson in 1916. Because of the seriousness of the airplane scandals, Wilson appointed his own opponent, the top Republican of that period, to investigate them. Hughes spent weeks digging into the reasons why airplanes were not produced in World War I, and, among other things, made some scathing references to Talbott, then president of a war profiteer company formed to make Liberty motors.

With Talbott in the company were his father; Charles Kettering, later vice president of General Motors; and Edward A. Deeds, head of Delco Battery which became a General Motors subsidiary.

Hughes in his report charged them with "conduct of a reprehensible character," but said they could not be prosecuted under existing law. But he went on to recommend a court-martial for E. A. Deeds; their former partner.

Deeds had been made a colonel in the Army in charge of aircraft procurement, from which inside position he proceeded, according to Hughes, to "convey information to Mr. Talbott in an improper manner with respect to the transaction of business between that company and the division of the Signal Corps of which Col. Deeds was the head."

TALBOTT'S PATTERN

In other words, Talbott helped set a pattern even that early in life for inside profiting on war contracts.

Senator Russell bluntly asked Talbott about this during the Senate confirmation hearing on his appointment to be secretary of the Air Force.

"This company," said Russell, quoting the Hughes report, "'was launched about the same time of our entry into the war manifestly with the expectation of obtaining government contracts.'

"It was charged that Colonel Deeds, who had been associated with your father or Mr. Kettering, went into the War Department to aid the company in obtaining contracts."

"That is not correct, senator," replied Talbott.

Beyond that flat denial, however, he had no explanation of the harsh findings of the Republican who later became chief justice of the United States.

When the vote came on Talbott's nomination, Republican senaotrs were so anxious to confirm Ike's new cabinet regardless of the record, that only one vote in committee was cast against him—Kefauver of Tennessee.

Later, Kefauver asked chairman Saltonstall of Massachusetts to call Talbott back for further committee questioning regarding the Hughes report, at which time Kefauver inserted in the record some amazing telegrams sent by Colonel Deeds to Talbott regarding airplane contracts.

"In arranging for contract do not overlook a local contractor and lumber man in Osborne," Col. Deeds telegraphed his former partner, now the secretary of the air force, on May 24, 1917. "Ezra Kuhn knows his name. He has been friendly to us and I promised him something to do on this job."

In other words, Colonel Deeds, from the vantage point of the army, was helping to run his old business with Talbott, just as Talbott recently helped run his business with Paul Mulligan.

Deeds even gave Talbott strictly confidential information on how they could acquire their war plant from the government after the war.

"For your personal information, as coming from your local attorney," Deeds wired Talbott, "Judge Advocate General has ruled for the government to select one, contractor one, and two a third, as appraisers of market value of plant at expiration of contract. If you care to raise the question, the above will be found to the final ruling."

Kefauver questioned Talbott at great length about his use of inside information from his partner to amass a small war fortune. Talbott, however, was vague. He had an extremely poor memory.

It was not the kind of testimony to inspire confidence in a man picked to hold the important job of secretary of the Air Force. However, the Republican party owed a debt to Talbott as one of its top money-raisers and his confirmation was rushed through the Senate.

Note — Only six senators voted against Talbott in the final balloting: Gore and Kefauver of Tenessee; Fulbright of Arkansas; Morse of Oregon; Murray of Montana; Neely of West Virginia—all Democrats.

Breaks Up Ex-Wife's Date with Gunfire, Shoots Himself

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Robert Osborne, whose gunfire broke up his ex-wife's davenport date with a boy friend, lingered between life and death today.

In a few moments, the enraged ex-husband killed the boy friend, wounded his former mate, and turned his gun on himself Sunday.

Detective Inspector Walter Wiski said that Osborne, 34, stormed into the home of his divorced wife and killed Clarence Martinson, 33, with a .22 caliber pistol.

Martinson ,a service station attendant, died instantly when the bullet ripped into his head near his right ear. He fell off the sofa onto the floor.

Osborne then shot his ex-wife, Darelynn, 35, Wiski said, and fired a bullet into his own head. Both Martinson and Mrs. Osborne were fully clothed and apparently were seated on the sofa, Wiski said. He said they may have been dozing, because Mrs. Osborne did not remember her ex-husband entering the home.

Osborne was in critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital. If he recovered, a hospital spokesman said, he would probably be blind because the bullet entered his right temple and shattered his optical nerves. Mrs. Osborne was in fair condition after the bullet grazed her skull, and was expected to recover.

Gov't Tightens Regulations on Home Purchases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration, in a double-barreled anti-inflationary move, today abolished no-down-payment veterans' housing loans and boosted required down payments on FHA-insured homes by 2 per cent.

It also cut the maximum repayment period on both FHA and GI loans from 30 to 25 years.

Veterans Administrator Harvey Higley ruled that "pending possible changes in economic conditions" and until further notice no GI loan will be approved unless the veteran has paid in cash 2 per cent of the VA appraised price of the home.

Housing & Home Finance Administrator Albert M. Cole, announcing his agency's action called it "a mild and temporary precautionary measure which seeks to assure the housing market will not contribute inflationary measures to the economy."

Higley's action was disclosed in a routine notice in the Federal Register, official government publication.

There is a boom in housing construction throughout the nation. Total construction this year is expected to top 1,300,000 homes.

The minimum down payment for FHA-financed homes has been 5 per cent of the first $9,000 of the FHA appraised value of the home and 25 per cent of the amount over $9,000.

The new down payment rate will be 7 per cent of the first $9,000 of appraised value and 27 per cent of the value in excess of $9,000.

The down payments do not include closing costs on the purchase of a house. These must be paid in cash at the time the house is bought.

Dies of Poisoning While On Picnic

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Morgan County authorities today waited for a report from the state crime laboratory on the type of poison that killed Robert Eugene Johnson, 38.

Johnson was found dead in his car Saturday evening near the Jacksonville Country Club. His wife, Mary Irene, 43, told sheriff's officers they attended a picnic near the country club, then went to sleep in their car. She said she awoke to find Johnson "cold."

Mrs. Johnson later was picked up at a tavern in Pawnee and questioned Sunday before again released.

William Hawks, Morgan County coroner, said Johnson apparently died of poisoning.

Beta Kappa Chapter Group Visits Little Giant Camp for Handicapped Children

On Wednesday, July 27, Mrs. Gene Neihaus, Mrs. Ronald Coon, Mrs. Bob Gaskins, Mrs. Bill Keen, and Mrs. Charles D. Taylor spent the day at the Little Giant camp at Giant City State park. As representatives of the Beta Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi they interviewed the camp directors, and were shown around the camp by Mrs. Grace Whitlock, formerly of Harrisburg, who is now secretary to James N. Porter, the executive secretary of the Southern Illinois Association for the Crippled, Inc.

This year the Beta Kappa chapter sponsored the annual Lily Parade and held a benefit card party from which $165 was collected to help sponsor the Little Giant camp. This camp depends largely on the sale of Easter Seals for its maintenance. For the past three years the Harrisburg Woman's club has sent out the mailing list for the Easter Seals, the proceeds of which are used to send physically handicapped children from this area to the camp. The only cost to the parents of the child is the transportation to Giant City Park, and the children are well supervised by a staff of 35 trained personnel.

At present there are 80 children enrolled for two weeks. The total enrollment for 1955 was 217, 17 of whom are from Saline, White and Gallatin counties. The camp now is located near the lodge, but in the future it will be moved to Little Grassy. The children sleep in dormitories with several counselors in attendance and eat at picnic tables indoors. They have some periods of study and aid in speech and hearing where needed, however, most of the time is spent participating in handicrafts, swimming, riflery, archery, baseball, volley ball, and other recreational activities.

The children proudly displayed a puppet show and Davy Crockett scene they have made which will be used at their evening campfire sessions. The children have been taken by bus to a fair and to St. Louis to see the Cardinals' baseball game.

The Beta Kappas were impressed by the wonderful spirit of fun and good fellowship among these handicapped children and have adopted the camp as a permanent project. They have also voted to send a boy from this area to the Little Grassy camp opening next week.

Also viewing Little Giant camp were two groups of Beta Sigma Phis from Chester, who joined the Harrisburg group for luncheon at the Lodge and afternoon swimming.

Aiding handicapped and underprivileged children is one of the many services performed by Beta Sigma Phis all over the world. This year $16,000 was given to the American Cancer Society in addition to the local contributions of each chapter and $5,000 will be given each year for the coming three years to aid cancer research at Brown university at Providence, R. I.

Sergeant On Trial for Murdering 3 While Prisoner

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn Army sergeant, accused of murdering three fellow Americans while a prisoner of war in Korea, went on trial before a general court-martial today with the mother of one of his alleged victims among the spectators.

Sgt. James C. Gallagher, 23, also was charged with urging the Communists to shoot a fourth American and collaborating with and aiding the enemy.

If convicted, the tall, red-haired youth would face a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

As the court-martial began on Governors Island here, the Army identified two of the three victims of his "unpremediated murder" as Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter, Waukon, Iowa, and Cpl. John William Jones, Detroit, Mich. The third man was not identified.

It was charged that Gallagher's action in ejecting the three men from places of shelter while they were "sick, infirm and unable to help themselves" caused their deaths in a Communist prison camp in Korea.

It also was alleged that Gallagher had accused a fellow prisoner of sabotaging the Communists' forced indoctrination program and urged the Reds to shoot him. The man was identified as then Corp. Lloyd W. Pate, now a sergeant stationed here.

Mrs. Loretta Jones, 53, mother of Corporal Jones, and his sister, Mrs. Zenith Tucker, both of Detroit, were among the spectators. Also present was Gallagher's mother, Mrs. Mae Gallagher, 43, of Brooklyn, and other members of his family.

Boy, 6, Scalded to Death By Water in Radiator of Auto

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A six-year-old St. Louis boy was scalded to death by water from the radiator of a car that had struck him.

He was Jacob Brown Jr., whose parents reside at 1203 Missouri Ave.

Police said a car driven by a 13-year-old girl—Diane Thomas of John De Shields Homes—went out of control and jumped the curb at 17th St. and Market St. last Saturday night as the boy waited with his parents and his sister to cross the street to a picnic.

The water cock was knocked off the radiator and the hot water fell on the boy before he could be pulled from beneath the car. He died Sunday at St. Mary's Hospital where his five-year-old sister, Annetta Brown, was treated for scratches.

James Pinkston, 27, laborer, was charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a vehicle in his custody.

Congressman, 74, Bride, 45, Postpone Honeymoon Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)— Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-ND) and his bride, the former Mrs. Edna Sierson, of Newton, N. H., a congressional secretary, postponed honeymoon plans today pending adjournment of Congress.

They were wed Sunday at the Sixth Presbyterian Church.

The 76-year-old congressman and his 45-year-old bride planned to go to Burdick's Williston, N. D., ranch "if we ever get this congressional session over with."

Burdick said he met his bride, formerly of Haverhill, Mass., "around the Capitol." Mrs. Burdick, a widow and former "Welcome Wagon" hostess, has been employed on the secretarial staff of Rep. William H. Bates (R-Mass).

Burdick was divorced 35 years ago from his first wife. He was married again a few years later but that marriage was short and also ended in divorce.

Mt. Vernon Man Missing

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Six fire department crews dragged City Park Lake here on the chance they might find the body of George Walker, 26.

Walker, a soft drink distributor here, has been missing since noon last Thursday.

Police found his car parked near the lake, and they say Walker was believed carrying about $400 at the time of his disappearance.

Firemen from Mount Vernon, Salem, Centralia, West Frankfort, Herrin and Carbondale are helping drag the lake.

Workers Strike At Deere Plants

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — About 12,500 members of the CIO United Auto Workers went on strike against eight John Deere & Co. plants in Iowa and Illinois today, but union and company negotiators still tried to reach an agreement.

The union is seeking a guaranteed annual wage plan and is fighting a company proposal to convert its Des Moines and Dubuque plants from piece rate to uniform hourly wage rates.

Joe Agnew beamed at him happily. "But I dunno for sure now. After, when I got to thinking I wondered if maybe I'd heard a shot that made me swing the corner. Only, then, I thought it was a backfire, I guess. I mean I didn't rightly know it was a shot, except maybe I sensed it. So I slowed and turned the corner, and sure enough my head-lights pick up this man in the street right ahead, kind of half running away from me. Not running really, but trotting, I'd say. And he looked over his shoulder and saw my cab lights and waved to me and out of the corner of my eye I see these other two guys on the sidewalk and they look like maybe they're wrestling or fighting.

"But I didn't think much about them. They weren't looking for an empty cab. So I pulled up and leaned back to open the door and he sort of tumbled in on the seat. He was young and his face sort of white and kind of scared looking, and he turned to look back, and then said sharp, 'Get going, can'tcha?'

"So I started rolling and says back, not smart-alecky, you know, 'Anywhere special you want to go?' And he gave me an address, then, the same one I gave the police later. . . . I got it in my log . . . and sort of slumped back breathing hard and I saw in the mirror he was sort of holding his hands tight across his stomach, but I didn't think much of it then, I say, I didn't think much of it then, but after . . ."

"Did he say anything else to you?"

"Not much. Only one thing that was sort of funny. We were cruising along and I wasn't thinking about nothing much when I notice he's leaned way forward close to the back of the front seat like he's trying to read the notice that is in all cabs, you know. Got my picture and name and license number and all that. It's faded and hard to read with the isinglass over it, and nobody never does look at it anyhow because what do they care what a hackie's name or number, but I grinned back over my shoulder at him and says, just to make a sort of joke, you know, I say, just to make a sort of joke I says, 'It's me, all right. I got a license and everything.' And he slumped back like he was frightened and then said like it worried him, 'But I can't read your name or number there.'

"'Joe Agnew,' I says. Number so and so and so. 'Special rates,' I says, just for a gag, only it ain't really a gag because I own my own hack you see and do bring it home at night and sometimes do get special calls here at home after hours from particular customers who know me good and know I never mind getting up out of bed to accommodate them no matter how late it is, so I told him, 'Special rates on special trips when I'm off duty. Just call me at home any time, I says, that you can't get a cab no place else.' And he said very polite that he might do that, and then I pulled up in front of that apartment house where he wanted to go.

* * *

"He got out of the cab and said he was all right and stuck a wadded single in my hand and went up the walk. The fare was only .. cents so that sort of evened up for the nickel tip I'd got just before but they do even up like that, I say, they do even up like that from morning to night so it's no use getting sore."

"Did you see him go in the door?" demanded Shayne.

Joe Agnew hesitated and screwed up his eyes thoughtfully. "I think I did. The front door, you know. He was pulling it open, anyhow, when I drove away. So I thought no more about it, naturally, till half an hour later or so when I'd stopped for a cup of coffee 'and I heard the newscast telling about a broad getting herself choked on 18th Street a little while before and I knew the address was just about where I'd picked that fare up, and I got to wondering whether maybe it was a clue or something and should I report it to the cops, but I don't like to stick my neck out, so I thinks to myself, 'Better stay out of it, Joey boy. They'll have you up on the carpet and you'll lose time and all for nothing,' so I go back out to my cab parked outside and I'm just about to get in and cruise a little when something sort of seemed to make me open the back door and look in at the cushion."

* * *

Michael Shayne drained off the last of his beer and arose hastily. "Some other time, Joe, you and I'll get together over some drinks and have a real talk. You got a phone I can use?"

"You bet. Right here." Joe Agnew jumped to his feet and led Shayne to a telephone stand in the hallway. The redhead dialed a number and waited until Chief Gentry's gruff voice answered.

"Mike Shayne, Will. Thanks for . . . the loan of your gun."

"Okay, Mike," rumbled Gentry.

"If you'll do me one little favor, Will. That's all I'm going to ask."

"Some simple little thing like blowing up City Hall?"

"Not quite. Have you got a stake-out on the rooming house on 18th Street where the girl was strangled?"

"Man on the front door checking everybody in and out."

"Pull him off, Will. Right away."

"Now, look, Mike. I don't . . ."

"I haven't time to explain why. Just do it. For half an hour. Put him back on after that if you want. I'm counting on you."

(To Be Continued)

Jake Hallowell, 32, of Dean and Hallowell Firm, Found Dead in Bed

Jake Hallowell, 32, of the firm of Dean & Hallowell, geologists occupying offices in the Brown building, Carmi, was found dead in bed Sunday morning at the home of his parents at Charleston, Ill. He was a single man and had gone to the home of his parents for the week end. Death was attributed to a natural cause.

Mr. Hallowell was a partner of James Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Dean, Harrisburg. Numerous friends of the Dean family were acquainted with him and he was widely known in the oil industry.

Harry Yde, Former State Police Superintendent, Dies

FREEPORT, Ill. (UP) — Harry (Hap) Yde, 53, former Stephenson County sheriff and state police superintendent, died Sunday night after surgery in a Phoenix, Ariz., hospital.

Yde was sheriff from 1938 to 1941, when he resigned to become superintendent of state police during the administration of former Gov. Dwight H. Green.

He later served as warden at the Vandalia state prison farm.

He is survived by his wife, a son, two grandchildren, his father, two sisters and six brothers, one of whom is Emil Yde, former Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher known for his use of the "submarine ball."

Organize Kent E. Keller Memorial Ass'n at Marion

The Kent E. Keller Memorial Association was organized in a meeting held at Marion Sunday, it was announced this morning by Attorney Don Scott.

The late Congressman Keller, a native of Ava, was in congress for several years and was active in getting the veterans hospital at Marion and played a big part in the plans for the development of Crab Orchard Lake, it was said.

Many of his friends and members of his family have discussed the possibility of forming an association to dedicate a memorial to his memory, Atty. Scott stated today.

The type of memorial was discussed at Sunday's meeting and it was decided a "Living Memorial" instead of a plaque or statue would be more appropriate, but nothing definite was decided.

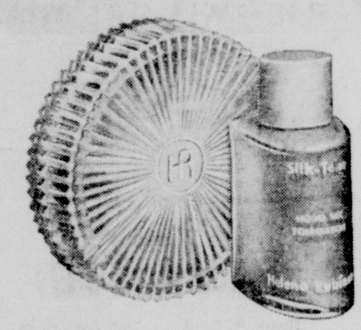

Officers of the Kent E. Keller Memorial Association are: President, Baker McAlpin, Herrin; 1st vice president, Gordon Franklin, Marion; 2nd vice president, George Bader Jr., McClure; 3rd vice president, Don Scott, Harrisburg; secretary, Palmer Ray, Buckner; treasurer, Ebb Etherton, Carbondale.

By-laws and committees will be announced later.

Scott Frost Heads Field of 11 For Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. Y. (UP) — Scott Frost headed a field of 11 three-year-old trotters entered today for Wednesday's 30th running of the famed Hambletonian stakes.

Named to oppose Sol A. Camp's odds-on favorite in the Kentucky Derby of trotting were Leopold Hanover, Colbymite, Butch Hanover, Wayahead, Indian Raider, Childs Hanover, Home Free, Galophone, Flemington and Arvilla Hanover.

Scott Frost was quoted at 3 to 5 in the overnight line and will race coupled with two stablemates, Butch Hanover and Home Free. Johnny O'Brien will drive the speedy son of Hoot Mon in quest of a winner's share of $51,075.63 from a gross purse of $86,863.32.

It was the smallest field since 11 raced in 1946 when Chestertown was the winner.

Galophone, with Billy Haughton driving, was second choice at 4 to 1 while Childs Hanover, with Frank Ervin in the saddle was third choice at 6 to 1.

14 Injured in Two-Car Collision

AUBURN, Ill. (UP) — Fourteen persons were injured Sunday night in a two-car collision on Ill. 4 about two miles south of here.

Nine of the injured were in a car driven by Nat Sargent, Auburn. Driver of the second car was Robert Luckey, Curran, charged with reckless driving. State Patrolman Robert Morris said Luckey admitted speeding on a curve on the narrow highway.

The injured included seven children.

Don Wallace Hurls No-Hitter As Legion Wins, 19-0

Don Wallace, pitching for the Harrisburg Legion while his teammates, the Stars, were idle, racked himself up a no-hitter Sunday afternoon downing the Herrin Legion club. The score was 19 to 0 although it was quite a game for the first four innings as both pitchers held the opposition hitless and scoreless. Herrin had a young team but one that hustled all the way.

Flash Griffiths opened up the game for the Legion when he bashed a bases-loaded triple in the fifth to start the locals scoring and after that it wasn't much of a contest as the Legion scored practically at will in the remainder of the game.

Fred Williams paced the Legion's 19-hit attack with four singles. Griffiths had a single double and triple for his afternoon's efforts at the plate. Harold Gulley had a home run and single for three tries; Bob Dallas a double and single in three official at bats; Odle two singles in four tries and Romonosky a triple and single in four tries. Wallace, Jim Hay, Buzz Kennedy and Frank Logsdon picked up the other hits.

Wallace whiffed 15 of the visitors while walking only three. Dick Romonosky and Frank Logsdon split the catching chore for the locals.

Next Sunday the Legion will take a long trip when they go to Nashville, Tenn., to play either or both the Nashville Cyclones or the Old Hickory Barons in a two way double-header.

Penman Accepts Coaching Post in Central Illinois

Al Penman, coach at Ridgway high school the past two years, announced today he had accepted the post of athletic director and head basketball coach at Astoria high school. Astoria, with a population of about 2,000, is located approximately 40 miles northwest of Springfield and the high school has an enrollment of 300.

Mr. and Mrs. Penman were in Astoria Sunday looking for suitable housing and plan to move from Ridgway the latter part of this month.

Astoria has a complete athletic program, including football, track, baseball and basketball, Penman stated this morning. As athletic director he will be in charge of the entire program as well as head basketball coach. Penman also probably will coach the baseball team.

He stated that last year's football team at Astoria was undefeated and the basketball team enjoyed a fine season, losing out in sectional play to Quincy. Three of last year's cagers will return for another season of play.

Penman, a native of West Frankfort, announced his resignation at Ridgway last spring and Bob Dallas of Harrisburg has been hired to fill the coaching spot at Ridgway.

Penman stated this morning he had received several offers of jobs with high schools in southern Illinois, including the principalship at one, but he preferred to go to the central part of Illinois and had taken the Astoria position.

Hancock Horse Wins Ribbons

Spur's Genius, gaited horse owned by Atty. L. M. Hancock and Mrs. Hancock of this city, won a blue ribbon and two red ribbons at the Hillsboro, Mo., horse show last week. The first place blue ribbon was won in the amateur class, the two second place ribbons in the open class.

White Sox Lead American For August Stretch Run; Hold Schedule Advantage

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox roared into the August stretch run today with their best lead yet and with a definite schedule advantage the rest of the way, because they have more games with the American league's three "weakling" teams than any of the other contenders.

By the same token, they have fewer games to play with the teams battling for the flag. From now on they have only four more games with the Yankees, six with the Indians, seven with the Red Sox, and nine with the Tigers for a total of 26. But they have 27 to go with the lowly outfits, 12 with the sixth place Athletics, 5 with the seventh place Senators and 10 with the eighth place Orioles.

The Yankees have a rougher row to hoe with 32 games against the contenders and only 19 against the lesser lights. They have 8 more with the Indians, 12 with the Red Sox and 8 with the Tigers. But they have only 4 more with Kansas City, 6 with Washington and 9 with Baltimore.

Cleveland has 30 more with the contenders, 12 with the Tigers and 4 with the Red Sox and 21 with the also-rans, 9 with Kansas City, 8 with Washington, and 4 with Baltimore.

Detroit Has Toughest Schedule

The Red Sox have to contend with the contenders 29 times, 6 with the Tigers in addition to the others. They also have 22 with the "cousins," 7 with K. C., 9 with Washington and 6 with Baltimore. Detroit has the toughest future of all with 35 games against contenders and only 17 with softies, 6 with K. C., 7 with Washington and 4 with Baltimore.

The White Sox, even though they have lost their ace, Dick Donovan, for a month with appendicitis while the Indians acquired Sal Maglie and the Yankees brought back Don Larsen, thus are not in a bad spot. They came through splendidly by winning, 3-1, in 11 innings and 6-5 at Washington. Trailing 1-0 in the opener they tied the score in the eighth when catcher Ed Fitzgerald dropped a third strike for what would have been the third out and Jim Rivera scored from third. With the bases loaded, pitcher Pedro Ramos hit George Kell with a pitch then walked Rivera to force home two runs in the 11th. Jack Harshman, filling in for Donovan, pitched a two-hitter for his seventh victory.

In the second game Rivera collected four hits to pace the White Sox. Washington rallied for two runs in the ninth but a fine relay play, Rivera to Nellie Fox to Sherm Lollar nipped the tying run at the plate.

Welcome Home Party

Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle, and Yogi Berra staked Larsen to a welcome home party with first inning homers in a 5-2 Yankee victory over the A's, but the Kansas Citians bounced back with a 7-1 second game triumph. Trailing 1-0 in the second game, Gus Zernial bopped a two-run homer in the eighth and the Athletics piled on five more with a barrage of singles in the ninth.

The oncoming fourth place Red Sox were the only other contenders to show a profit, beating Detroit, 8-3 and 3-2. In the oepner Ted Williams' grand slam homer helped Frank Sullivan to his 14th victory, a four-hitter. Bonus baby Frank from Army chores twirled the second victory, scattering 11 hits and leaving 12 Detroiters on base. Jim Piersall's ninth inning homer broke that one up.

Cleveland licked Baltimore 6-0 on Art Houtteman's six-hitter after the Orioles rallied for four runs in the eighth to win the opener, 4-3. The Indians kicked in with a triple play to help Houtteman to his triumph. Rookie Bob Hale's key single drove home the winning run in the opener for Baltimore.

Newcombe Wins 18th

Don Newcombe won his 18th game against one loss, a five-hitter while the Dodgers pounded out 14 in an 11-2 triumph at St. Louis. Roy Campanella had four hits including his 23rd homer.

The Giants ended Milwaukee's six-game winning streak with a 7-3 triumph in which Willie Mays hit his 33rd homer. Jim Hearn struck Joe Adcock with a pitch and broke his arm, putting him out of action at least a month. Del Crandall and George Crowe hit Milwaukee homers.

Ted Kluszewski tied Duke Snider for the major league home run lead with his 35th homer as Cincinnati won a pair from Pittsburgh, 7-4 and 6-5.

In the opener Joe Black won his fifth game despite two homers by Dale Long and one by Toby Atwell.

The Cubs came out of the doldrums by defeating the Phils, 7-1 and 6-5. Warren Hacker pitched a five-hitter for his 10th victory in the opener. Ernie Banks hit his 31st homer off loser Robin Roberts. In the second game Dee Fondy drove in three runs with a double and homer and earlier Jim King hit a three-run homer.

UP FOR GRABS—Players can be hurt when they get their signals crossed on a fly ball. Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron of the Yankees narrowly missed knocking heads or worse on a foul pop at the Stadium. They nearly collided when both kept their eyes on the ball, the catcher leaping away barely in time as the big first baseman made the catch.

Indians Buy Sal Maglie

NEW YORK (UP) — Did the Cleveland Indians buy Sal (The Barber) Maglie from the Giants in hopes he can pitch them to a pennant? Or did they do it just so he wouldn't fall into the hands of the Yankees or White Sox?

Baseball circles were buzzing over those questions today as the 38-year-old curve ball artist flew in from Milwaukee to join the Indians for the big series with the Yankees beginning Tuesday night.

Manager Al Lopez of the Indians insisted that his club wanted Maglie for himself alone, and that they paid the Giants only the regular $10,000 waiver price. But strong reports persisted that the Indians grabbed Maglie so that the Yankees or White Sox wouldn't do it—and that they paid about $39,000 for him.

The Yankees and the White Sox both are hurting for pitching help right now—the Yankees with Bob Turley failing to win regularly and the Sox with Dick Donovan lost indefinitely with appendicitis.

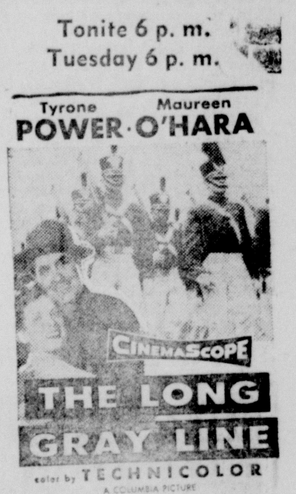

Swarthy Sal owned a 9-5 record with the Giants, but has been knocked out of the box in his last eight starts. He hasn't won a game since July 2 and hasn't pitched a complete game since June 29.

DEAR FRIEND:

We believe you will agree with us that your son, grandson or other youngster is worth $5.00. If so, we believe you will be interested in helping us in our efforts to establish a regular, supervised, recreational baseball program.

We have formed an organization in Harrisburg called the Kiwanis Teenage Baseball Club. We are attempting to construct and light a baseball park on the location formerly referred to as Miner's Field just across the road and South of the Saline County Fair Ground.

It is estimated that we will need approximately $4,000.00 to complete the entire program. We have already raised about $2,000.00 of this amount. We believe you will appreciate the value of such a project to this community and we are hopeful that you and others will see fit to assist us as much as possible.

We shall deeply appreciate whatever contribution you may wish to make and respectfully suggest if you are interested in helping support this movement, mail your contribution to Teenage Baseball, Harrisburg, Illinois.

Boy Scout Camp on Little Grassy Lake Is Monument to Southern Illinois Spirit

MARION, Ill. (AP)—The Egyptian Council Boy Scout Camp on Little Grassy Lake near here closes its first summer of full operation this week, a monument to southern Illinois community spirit.

Three years ago, the Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America was the only council in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana or Wisconsin without a camp.

This summer about 700 scouts from 15 southern Illinois counties spent a week or more at the camp at the southwest tip of Williamson county near Giant City State Park.

The scout camp is on a 170-acre site on Little Grassy Lake, which the Egyptian scout council obtained on lease from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Originally, the site was practically worthless farmland, and it was turned over to the Civilian Conservation Corps in the 1930s. The CCC planted the entire area in pine trees only about six feet apart.

Later the Wildlife Service took the land, and when Little Grassy Lake was built, the service permitted organizations to file applications for land on the lake.

"We got the 170 acres," Scout Executive Robert Krejci said, "but we couldn't get many people on the bandwagon until 1953."

Work, Materials Donated

Then that summer, he said, "we built up enough enthusiasm to get started, and about 700 people turned out one Saturday to work on the campsite, clearing land, constructing buildings and laying water pipes."

Rain and 60-mile-an-hour winds hit about noon that Saturday, Krejci said, and "not many of the workers turned up Sunday until the sheriff's office and police sent out a call for volunteers on their radios. Then we had more workers than we had Saturday."

All of the work and most of the materials were donated for the work project. During that first week end, Krejci said, about 75 per cent of the cap's water system was completed, a quarter-mile of road was built, and work was started on the camp chapel, trading post and shower building.

The project earned the first presented in southern Illinois, the George Washington honor medal for a community program.

The camp, now valued at $75,000, was open last summer, but on a limited scale. This summer an average of 100 boys has attended the camp weekly, at a cost, including food, of only about $8 a week.

Wilderness-Type Camp

Krejci said the camp is a "wilderness type" camp, the type now being built by Boy Scout councils wherever possible.

The scouts prepare their own meals, live in tents and are for the most part under the direction of their scoutmasters. The camp staff of about 10 men only assists the scoutmasters.

The only permanent buildings at the camp are the trading post, shower building, health lodge, chapel and a troop lodge for the scout leaders and their families.

"The people who said we were crazy to tackle such a big project now say we've got something southern Illinois can be proud of," Krejci said. "Other councils are coming to see what southern Illinois scouting has accomplished."

The counties served by the camp are Perry, Franklin, Hamilton, White, Jackson, Saline, Williamson, Gallatin, Union, Alexander, Pulaski, Johnson, Pope, Hardin and Massac.

Three Killed, Six Hurt in Accident

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—Three persons were killed and six injured when a car occupied by four young couples sideswiped an oncoming auto in a passing accident near Taylor, Mo., six miles west of here.

Those killed were Dick Shores, Frank Emery and Roberta Moore, all of Canton, Mo. They were in the car of four young couples.

Iowa Farmers Rebel Against Soviet Banquets

KRASNODAR, Soviet Union (AP)—Iowa farmers visiting the Soviet Union rebelled today against champagne, vodka and 10 course banquets.

From now on, they said, they would much prefer for the Soviets to "let us see what we want to see" and pop into any collective farm they want to visit.

The delegation, led by Lauren K. Soth, editorial writer for the Des Moines Register and Tribune who first proposed the exchange of agriculture delegations, explained:

"We appreciate the wonderful hospitality of our Russian hosts but we are simply unable to eat and drink the huge quantities of food and liquor set at the table everywhere we go."

Soth challenged Ivan Stretltsov, senior Soviet agricultural official conducting the tour, to let the delegation operate independently, stopping their tour along the road or turning in wherever they desired.

The issue arose at breakfast Sunday in the Priboi restaurant in Novorossisk when the Americans rebelled at a visit to a champagne factory—which would include a three hour banquet.

They pointed out that wine and grapes were of minor importance to the economy of the Soviet or the United States and that they already had seen a winery.

As result the delegation broke into two groups. One visited the winery and reported it had learned nothing new. The other visited two Soviet farms and reported they were not as productive as other farms they had visited.

The two groups joined up before arriving at Krasnodar and a reception that topped anything previous on their visit. A crowd estimated at 20,000 or more swarmed around their cars, clutched the hands of the Americans, cheered and applauded and held up their babies to be seen. There were shouts of "welcome" and "all the best to you."

China Announces Release of 11 Airmen

Schmidt, Boise, Idaho.

The 11 were the last of 15 United States airmen admittedly held by Red China.

Four others, all Korean war veterans, were ordered "deported" and released by Red China last May 31.

They were Lt. Col. Edwin L. Heller, Wynnewood, Pa.; Lt. Roland W. Parks, Omaha, Neb.; Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, Lincoln, Neb., and Capt. Harold E. Fischer of Swea City, Iowa.

The action by Communist China followed a mildly-worded foreign policy broadcast on Saturday by Red China's Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

No mention was made by the broadcast of the status of 40 American civilians who are detained in Red China and whose status is to be discussed in the negotiations opening today in Geneva.

However, Red China in a broadcast last week indicated release of the civilians would be a simple matter.

The 11 men released today were the principals in a case that had provoked the wrath of the United States and raised a storm in the U. S. Congress.

The 11 were crewmen of an American B29 Superfortress shot down near Antung, Manchuria, while on a leaflet dropping mission Jan. 13, 1953, near the end of the Korean war.

Antung is just across the Yalu river from Korea and at the northwest corner of the Mig Alley aerial battleground where U. S. Air Force and Soviet-built jets clashed repeatedly during the war.

Red China charged that the downed plane and its airmen were on an espionage mission over Red China and could not, therefore, be treated as war prisoners.

The United States said the airplane was on a routine Korean war mission and that the 11 crewmen should have been treated as war prisoners and returned home in the prisoner repatriation that followed the Korean armistice. The U. S. position was that the plane was probably hit over North Korea and glided down across the river.

The 11 airmen were prosecuted and convicted amid heavy propaganda trappings, including alleged confessions broadcast to the world.

Eisenhower Hails Release Of 11 Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today hailed the release of 11 U. S. airmen by Communist China and promised them "speedy reunion" with their families.

Mr. Eisenhower said this country "extends thanks to all who have contributed to this humanitarian result."

The President's statement was read to reporters by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and other congressional leaders also expressed delight at the news.

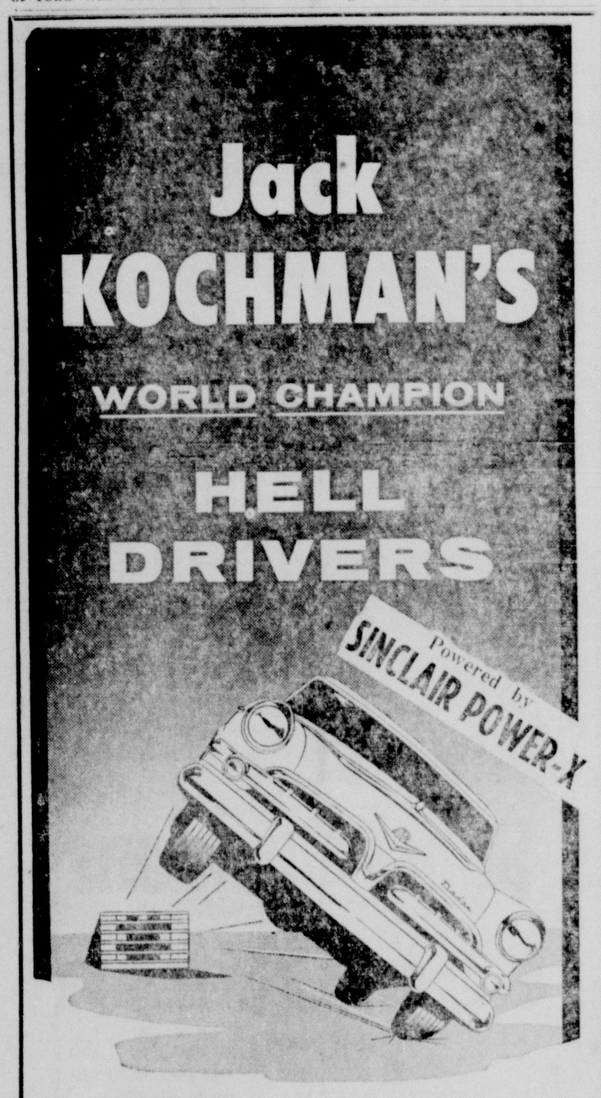

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.), who has frequently demanded stern steps to secure release of the airmen, said "the American people will welcome home the 11 American airmen not as pardoned criminals as stated by Peiping Radio but as honored members of the Air Force who have been illegally held in violation of the terms of the Korean armistice."

Caterpillar Workers To Vote on Contract

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Caterpillar Tractor Co. and Local 974 UAW-CIO negotiators today reached agreement on a new contract that will have to be ratified by the union membership.

Officials of Local 974 said picketing would continue in the two-day old strike until the union vote on the new contract at 2 p. m. CDT Tuesday.

Although neither Federal Conciliator Francis L. Sheridan nor the negotiators would give details of the contract agreement, it was learned provisions for a union shop and an eight-cent hourly wage increase had been made.
